The Fellowship of Christian Farmers is coordinating shipments of rice, edible beans, soy protein, cooking oil and medical supplies to Cap Hatien, Haiti to support the relief effort of Haitian Christian Ministries. Three, forty foot steel containers are scheduled to be shipped in February. Thereafter, one container per month is planned. The containers are being purchased so they can remain at the missions Pillatre (pronounced pea-yot) Center for needed storage during the ongoing earthquake relief effort.

Dennis Schlagel, Executive Director of the Fellowship of Christian Farmers, International said, "The Haitian relief effort continues to remain urgent and it is critically important that we supply the Haitian church so they can meet the needs of people coming to them for help".

The Fellowship of Christian Farmers is asking for your help to fill 40 foot containers with food and medical supplies. Contributors are reminded FCFI is a 501(C)(3) non-profit organization. To Contribute and see more of the action contact www.FCFI.org.
